Supporting OSD Policy & USCENTCOM's relationship with the Kyrgyz Republic through military-to-military planning

December 23, 2012

CCMR successfully completed its first DIB Transformation Policy and Strategy Workshop in Bishkek, Kyrgyz Republic. The aim of the event was to explore policy and strategy aspects for transformation of the armed forces in response to changes in the security environment. The workshop shared transformational principles for maintaining competitive military advantage in a 21st Century marked by the effects of globalization. The workshop introduced organizational functions which contribute to development or change, including Defense Institution Building focus areas. Focused discussion strived to define terms appropriate and relevant in a Kyrgyz context and to elicit comments on the importance of change in areas reflecting national priorities. Lecturers from CCMR provided presentations, facilitated discussions and exchanged views with 13 senior Ministry of Defense participants.
